Re: "Appliance Efficiency Pre-Rulemaking" - CEC Staff Analysis on Toilets, Urinals and Faucets

To Whom It May Concern:

The San Diego Chapter of the American Society of Plumbing Engineers (ASPE) is writing to show support for our Society Board of Directors stated position that codes and regulations should not require any further reduction in the current maximum flow and flush volumes until adequate research on the impact has been conducted.

Relative to Docket No. 14-AAER-1, "Appliance Efficiency Pre-Rulemaking" - CEC Staff Analysis on Toilets, Urinals and Faucets, ASPE respectfully submits our positions and rational as expressed in the below table of comments. As well, ASPE stands in support of other Plumbing Industry Associations expressing like comments.

Sincerely,

Martin Trim, PE, CPD, GPD, LEED® AP
